Rodney,

I don't know what to say. I guess I can say I'm really going to miss you because you've been such a high spirit, along with Cory, for me. Thanks for teaching me how to play "St. Peter" on our Library trip. I may cause hindrance if I say anything more about the trip. Just remember that I'll always cherish your friendship.  Ronda Class of '88

The final piece of the ALBROKAN has been finished and soon the memories that we have had this past year will be placed into our hearts. The faces of our friendship and the good times will be forever in our minds.

The experience of excitement, confusion, and disbelief as freshmen, recognition and slowly learning to set an example for underclassmen as sophomores, the ever-precious feeling of establishment and enjoying school life to its fullest as juniors, and relaxed, nonchalant seniors begin to take their place in a new, exciting world.

The 1986-87 ALBROKAN could not be produced by one person, but by a dedicated and hard-working staff. I would like to thank each and every one of them for their support.

But a special thanks goes to Mrs. Tamara Solomon for her advice, support, guidance, and special friendship, which she has displayed to each of us throughout this year. WE LOVE YOU!

I hope the 1986-87 ALBROKAN has captured something meaningful to everyone. If this book has relived a special moment to each student, then we can say it has been a success. No one can go back and relive the past, but we all have our own memories of A.L. Brown High School.

Now the ALBROKAN has been "PUT ALL TOGETHER."

"Shannon's Words"

Being Senior class president has given me the opportunity to build friendships, which I hope will last a lifetime. It gives me a chance to give of myself as others have given to me. It shows me that you can't go through life without touching someone else's life, and through this, you learn the true meaning of friendship.

If I could give one thing of myself to others, it would be the happiness I've felt while being Senior class president.

To the class of 1987 — I thank each and everyone of you for giving me the chance of representing you for this year. I hope all of you complete the goals you have set for yourself. To all underclassmen, strive to be the best you can and, in all things, be true to yourself.

Last, but not least, to the faculty of A.L. Brown High School, "Thank You" seems like such a small way to say how much I appreciate all you've done for me throughout my high school years. You have guided me and taught me the values I am now applying to my life.

I Love You All!

FREE AT LAST, FREE AT LAST . . .

How does it feel to be a Senior? Exciting! Powerful! Scary! Expensive! Seniors spend "Big Bucks" — theirs and their parents — on Senior pictures, caps and gowns, graduation announcements, the Prom and the beach!!!!

The Senior class really came together when they were called "rising Seniors" and told to lead the way to third period for the first time. Although there is a Senior unity, every member is really an individual, a separate and important piece of the Senior puzzle. Seniors accept each other and take things as they come. They set the pace for the school year and everyone follows.

A Senior starts the year planning on all A's, but laughs this idea away after Mr. River's first Friday Calculus test or Mr. Shinn's first discussion question. He applies for the jobs, clubs, the Army, and college. Where will you be next fall, Senior? What Senior knows where he'll be or what he'll be doing? What Senior really cares?

First semester ends and Seniors hope they'll never see another exam again. Spring comes and most Seniors know where they'll be going to school, or where they'll be stationed, or where they'll be working. Prom time rolls around and some pretty amazing couples spring up out of people who realize this may be their last chance at a Prom ever. ALBROKANS finally arrive and the 180 days that had been slowly creeping by are suddenly gone and Senior exams are just around the corner.

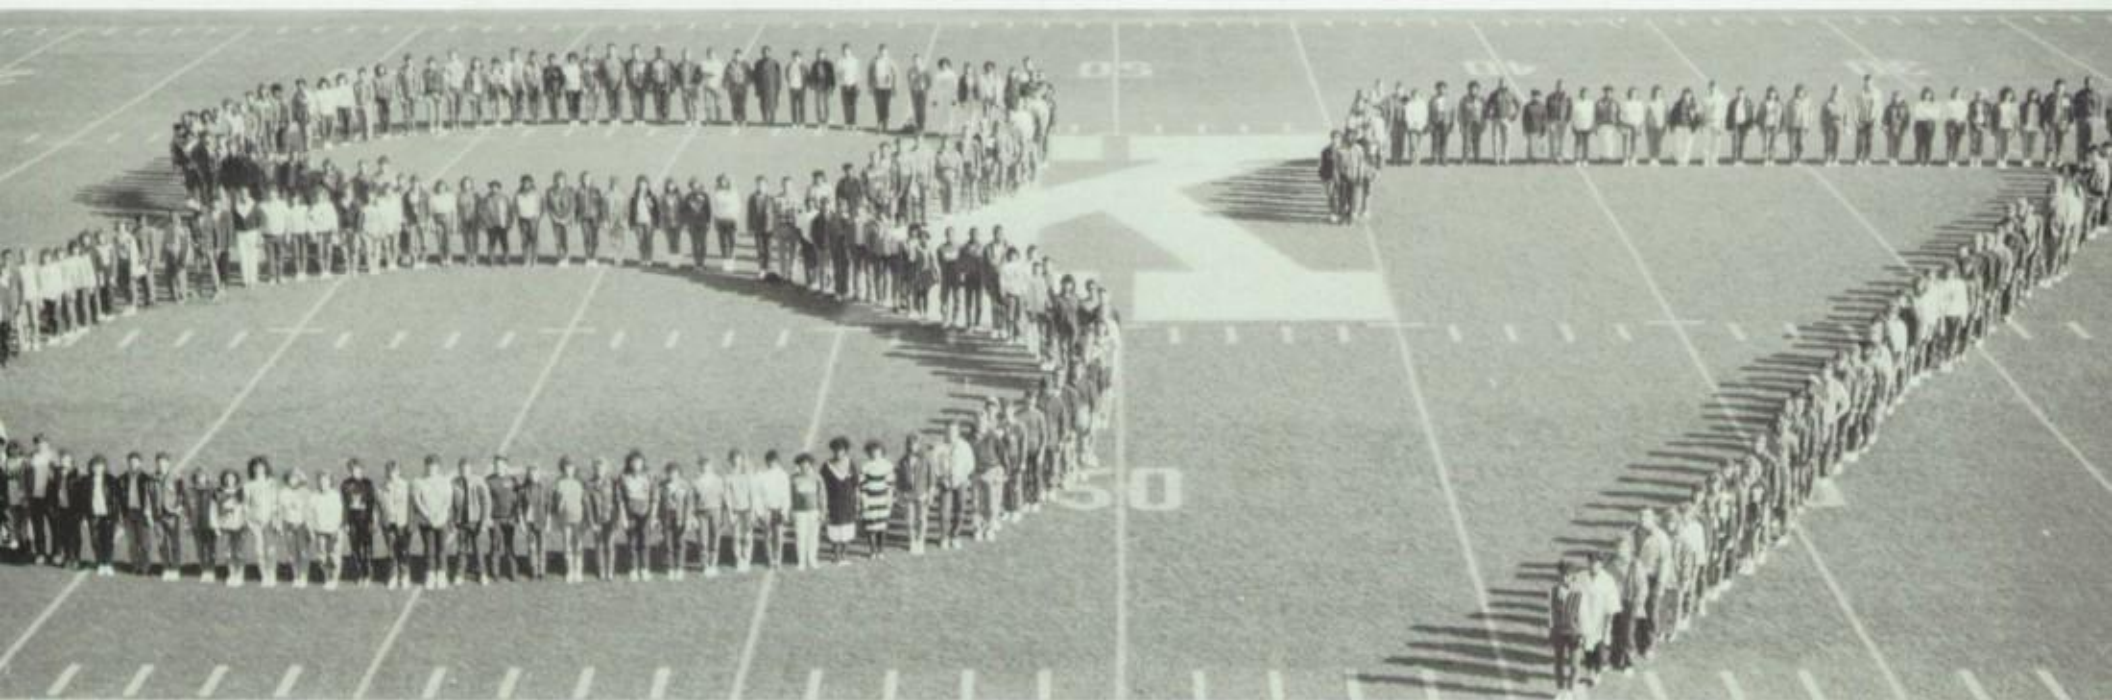

Three hundred-fifteen Seniors listen to a speaker during Baccalaureate, trying to take a last look at our high school days. Senior assembly starts and we sit in the auditorium's first row seats for the last time. June's here and more special Wonders walk across the graduation platform on our way to our future.

Hugs! Tears! Snapshots! Packed suitcases! Packed cars! Suntan oil! Solarcaine! Budweiser! Jack Daniels! Ocean Drive! Seniors head for the coast for one last two week party. This special class comes together with Seniors from all over to share the final Senior Ritual. Unchaperoned, Seniors hit the sand, the jacuzzi at the Tilghman, the Pavillion and the Strip. Seniors yell from balconies, car windows, you name it.

Seniors have put together twelve years of great memories, but can't wait to start all over building a future to share with their graduating class at the first ten year reunion.

THE MYSTERY OF THE DISAPPEARING HOMEROOM

Where did it go! This is probably the question many of us were asking this year when we found out that there was no more homeroom. After all we've had homeroom ever since we've been in school. What changed everything?

On July 1, 1986 a state law was passed that said we, as students, had to be in school, "learning" for five and one-half hours. So homeroom was cut out and school was now going to start ten minutes earlier. Now, our second period teacher is responsible for taking up money for year books, forms, fees, reading the announcements, etc. The only time homerooms ever get together now, is at assemblies, which isn't too often.

Some people think it's not really that bad having a homeroom, just as long as we still get out at 2:30 p.m. Others enjoyed getting together during homeroom and talking with friends, doing last night's homework, or just catching a little nap. Well, now that the big mystery has been solved "I didn't like homeroom anyway!"

IT'S A DIRTY JOB, BUT

That's right, somebody has to do it. Nobody enjoys working because there's always something else we can be doing. We can always be going off on a date, going off with our friends, or we can just sit around.

Working is a necessity though. If we want to do all those fun things than we must have MONEY: That's right cash, moulah, green stuff, funds, bread, and a lot of it.

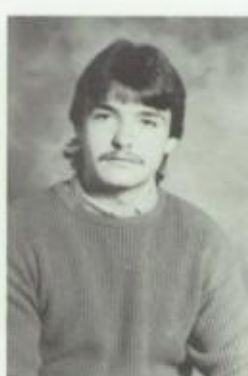

Even though we have to listen to everyone talk about how great the ball game was, we must sacrifice so we can have MONEY. Then next week we can go to the concert or next weekend we can go on that hot date, after we've got some funds.

FARMER TO CITY-SLICHER

As a new student at A.L. Brown High I feel that students are friendly and has a close bond with each other. Brown is always bragging about their school and sports. Even if they're not number one.

At A.L. Brown High the dress style is dressier and preppier-looking than the other school I attended. The students wear dress pants, dresses, and bright colors and are in tune with today's fashion.

The food at A.L. Brown is relatively the same as any other school. Being a WONDER for the first year is great! I have met many new friends and teachers that are really nice. I hated the thought of coming to Brown at first, but now I'm proud to be a WONDER!

Ears to You!

Ears are two of the most important things in our lives today. Without ears, we couldn't hear the latest gossip on who's cheating on whom, who said this, and who was fighting outside the office before second period.

Without ears, the noise would be deafening. Each person would be yelling themselves hoarse trying to hear what they were saying.

Where would earrings be without ears? Everyone would be sporting rings in their nose. There would be no ear muffs, ear plugs, headphones . . . a whole industry would be wiped out! Even worse, E.F. Hutton would have to make a new commercial — how can we listen when he talks if we have no ears?

No, life would be just too complicated without ears. Aren't you glad you have a pair?

What's The Score

"Have you gotten your SAT results back, yet? "How well did you do?" When school starts so does the SAT, the Scholastic Aptitude Test. The SAT is a test given by the College Board that is used by college admissions officers in determining whether or not to accept a student. Supposedly, it gives the admissions office an idea of how well a new student will do in his or her freshman year.

The pressure to score high on the 400-600 scale is amazing. Students spend hundreds of dollars on SAT preparation courses in hopes of raising their scores a few points. So much emphasis is placed on a four-hour test result that it edges four years worth of excellent, hard school work right out of the limelight. Everyone dreads the SAT and hates finding their scores to be less than what is required by the college of their choice.

ONE WORD SAYS IT ALL

Juniors spend their time really enjoying school life. Being a junior is an important year for everyone. There are many special events that they will experience and treasure — Junior-Senior Prom, receiving their class rings, and the big Washington trip.

Juniors experience an established feeling that no one can describe. They find their identity and all unite as one very special group.

There is really no way to define junior, because the name says it all!

Those Disgusting Critters

Some say they are man's best friend. I say they're a pain! They don't care where they go to the bathroom and it doesn't embarrass them to do it in front of company. They don't bother to clean up after themselves and your parents are always bugging you to get up the messes they make. They have no respect for someone who is trying to sleep. They'll jump on the bed and scare you out of your sleep or a pleasant dream or you'll be sound asleep and they'll make some outrageous noise when they hear even the tiniest sound from outside and you think you're being raided. But despite all these mishaps, we all still love our pets.

Bumper Stickers

Bumper stickers are a way to get your point of view across. You can express your feelings about everything from the Tarheels to the president. You can tell if a person has a sense of humor. You can tell what college they root for, who they're going to vote for, how they feel about life, love, and religion, where they've been or where they're going. They range from advertisements and slogans to sayings and quotes. They can tell everything about you if your not careful.

Weekend Madness

RRIINNGG! — Well, school's over with for another week. But something's just starting, the weekend — that ever popular sabbatical for pre-secondary institution scholars indigenous to our geographical location. What all that crap means is that everybody in high school loves the weekend, and who wouldn't? Everybody goes crazy on the weekend.

During the week, high school students have absorbed almost 30 hours of hot air and by Friday afternoon they are ready to blow it out! Parties, malls, movies, food, and sleep are all part of the weekend.

Some people will be sorry, though, come Saturday, Sunday, or, Heaven forbid, Monday morning. Somebody will have partied a little too hard and, as it the rule of the weekend, they pay for it the next morning.

Will I Ever Be Sixteen?

You mean you're sixteen! Boy, you're lucky! I'm only fifteen and it's the pits! I have to beg my parents to take me places, or make my friends feel guilty so they'll take me places. Man, if I were sixteen I could go wherever I wanted. No more "I'll meet you there dates" or nights of saying, "I can't go because I don't have a ride." When I turn sixteen I'll have it made. My parents will have to respect me and my decisions. I'll be admired by those who haven't reached sixteen yet. I'll have real responsibilities. But most of all I'll be able to take charge of my own life! Do you think I'll ever get there?

Where Did All The Glamour Go!

When we reach the sophomore year we expect new doors to open. We look for more freedom and more fun, but now that we are here we find ourselves saying: "But this isn't as much fun as it was for the sophomores last year. They really know how to party! The truth of being a sophomore is nothing like that. Yes, we have more clubs to join. Yes, we are above the freshman. Aside from that, a sophomore lives a normal life just like everyone else. The glamour disappears when we actually get here. The main thing we notice is that now we are so busy that it is making us tired! Third period is now nap-time because we get no sleep at night. Now you say, "There has got to be something good about being a sophomore!" Sure, there is! We love the idea that we are one step closer to graduation. We get to be more involved. Best of all, we now have a class below us — the freshman! So, you see, being a sophomore has its advantages, but it is not as glamorous as a freshman may think.

I WONDER About A WONDER!

I WONDER what gets you through the school day — knowing that you're a WONDER, of course. I WONDER why there's so much school spirit. Because we WONDERS are number one, that's why! I WONDER why we're so hard working. Because we WONDERS strive for the best and WE ARE THE BEST. But I WONDER what makes a WONDER. Pride in our school? Pride in our sports? Pride in our academics? Pride in being number one? You see, pride is what a WONDER is all about. WONDERS are number one, so take pride in that and support your school.

Is That Your Natural Color?

People have the hardest time believing that there is such a thing in the world as a natural blonde. Some people believe that they don't exist and everyone who is blonde has dark hair under all that peroxide, Sun In, etc. The absolute first question a blonde female is asked when she walks into the room is: Did you put something on your hair? Of course you deny it — even if you have.

There is something totally laid-back about being blonde. People think you've got it made when, actually, hair color doesn't affect anything (with the possible exception of what colors look good on you).

Do blondes have more fun? No, not really, but somebody's got to keep those old rumors going!

When my dentist first mentioned braces I was so excited. I couldn't wait! I tried to imagine myself with braces in many different ways such as drawing braces on my old pictures. I even went so far as to put tin foil on my teeth.

Then the big day finally came and I hated my braces. They hurt so bad! When I tried to eat, my mouth felt like it was spastic. It was hard getting used to them. They make you feel as if you have a thousand bucked teeth crammed in your mouth. After about a week, they began to feel okay and after two weeks of happiness and not one bit of pain, it's time to visit the "great" orthodontist who makes your teeth feel "so good." I went through this month after month for a year and a half.

Then the day came when I got them taken off. I was scared because everyone said, "It's going to hurt so bad." When I walked in shaking, I sat down in the chair and gripped the arm rest tightly. Then they began to scrape the glue and pop off the brackets one tooth at a time.

After all my brackets and wires were gone for good, my teeth felt really slick. It felt like there was slime on my teeth. When I began to eat it felt like I had all kinds of room in my mouth. The pain is definitely not over. I still get to have those "wonderful" monthly visits when they tighten my retainer.

I don't think my orthodontist will ever stop making appointments with me.

Oh, No!

Oh, No! Here it comes. "Class, take everything off your desk except a pencil." Here comes that test I didn't even study for. The teacher passes out the tests and instructs everyone to remain silent. That means I can't talk for at least thirty minutes. Everything gets really quiet, and I can't even move without the whole class looking to see what's happening. What if I sneeze or something else like that happens. I'll just keep going and pretend I'm at home and not here taking a test. Look at all this stuff! I don't know any of it. I can't believe this! Finally, the teacher says something. Oh it's just him announcing how much time is left. Only ten minutes! I haven't even started! I can't hear anything except the sound of everyone breathing heavy. Everyone must be nervous, not just me. A pencil just dropped, and everyone is looking at the person who did it. I'm glad it was he and not me. oh, no! My pencil just dropped! I bet everyone's looking at me. Yes, they sure are. I'll just not look around the room at anybody and I'll mind my own business. I can hear people out on the schoolgrounds yelling. Finally, the teacher says "time is up." Hallelujah!!

EXCUSES! EXCUSES!
EXCUSES! EXCUSES!

Have you ever cut lunch? Have you ever been late to school? Or maybe you just wanted to check out early?

What was your excuse? What will it be next time? Just a work of advice: Don't use any of those in the girl's dean's office because it won't work!

If you cut lunch, don't say "Everybody else does it" or "The cafeteria food isn't good". They're both overused. Think of something original.

If you come in late for school, don't try to claim the train stopped or that it was too cold to start the car when it's only 60 degrees outside. And guess what girls! Buying a prom dress is not an excused absence. Neither is getting your hair done.

I'm sorry that those excuses don't work, but think about it — some of them are so old that our parents probably used them. Let's face it, we will have to think of some pretty creative excuses to fool the deans!

She Finally Speaks!

Yes, I know how to talk, so quit bugging me. At least I don't make a fool of myself all the time by shooting off at the mouth and acting like some crazed person. I don't have to worry about getting mixed in with the wrong crowd because they don't like shy people too much.

I would like to get over my shyness but I just don't know how. I guess I could be more outgoing and try not to worry so much about what people think of me. I guess if I do something stupid people won't pay much attention because there's always somebody acting more stupid.

Guys suffer more from shyness than girls do because they are supposed to be and are expected to be loud.

Shyness is something that a lot of people suffer from. Try and help them out by not embarrassing them.

TO CLUB OR NOT TO CLUB!

Why should anyone want to spend their school days (or nights) having club meetings or practices? How many times has the thought occurred to you about joining a club, but later deciding against it? If you've never been a member of a club, you have missed one of the greatest experiences a teen-ager can have. When you go on those long away games you know that all the effort is worth it. Being involved in the school in any way adds life to the times at A.L. Brown.

Feeding time at the zoo!

Is This Day Ever Going to End?

You're the last person in a cafeteria line that goes on forever. What do you do? Stand there and wonder if you'll ever get to eat? Probably. When you get your tray there's all of ten minutes left in the lunch period to choke down your food. The lunch period seems to go by so fast and the rest of the day drags. This probably has something to do with the fact that five extra minutes have been added to class periods while ten minutes are subtracted from lunch. This way, you spend more time in class using your brain than in lunch using your mouth.

In class rooms, eyes are fixed on wrist watches, and every single person knows exactly where all the clocks in the school are. If you walk into a class and ask the time, everyone in the room will answer down to the last second.

An alternative to the longer school day may be that teachers give tons of homework every night — even on weekends. Since the student reaction to this is obvious, the longer school day will be tolerated ... for now!

The Big Green Machine Rolls On

One of the biggest parts of A.L. Brown is extracurriculars and one big extracurricular activity is the A. L. Brown Marching Band.

The band is a symbol of pride and prestige. Everyone works hard to give great performances at football games and competitions. The band has won numerous awards and has a high standard of excellence. Anyone at Brown High School can be proud of our band because they show everybody how great it is to be a Wonder.

A lot of work goes into putting the shows together, and Mr. Driver and Ms. Graham are responsible for leading the band through. The band members' enthusiasm and drive make the Big Green Machine the best around.

STUDENT LIFE

How do you explain it? What is it? You tell me. It's happy, it's sad, it's life. It starts from the first day of school when freshmen were frantically trying to escape the big senior waiting to throw you in the bushes or the South Rowan game when the sophomores thought they had it made in the chain link contest but the seniors showed them. What about cramming for those exams coming up or trying to get those note cards done that were due today for your term paper. How about anticipating that Christmas break coming up? Student Life is the special Christmas presentation we had and celebrating the New Year by partying 'til the wee hours of the night. It's complaining over the stupid way they did exams this year. Getting ready for the beach, waiting for college acceptances, and partying during spring break is all part of it. Also the juniors going to Washington, the seniors receiving announcements, and looking toward graduation not too far ahead. But mostly Student Life is The good and bad times we've shared together this year as great friends clinging on to the memories of '87.

Spirit Week

Tick, tick, tick goes the clock as we watch with anticipation of hearing that bell ring to let us run wild and scream our hearts out with spirit at Pep Rally.

Can you believe we're actually having one? It took a lot of hoping and a lot of begging to get one, but Concord week was filled with the spirit of stomping those Spiders anyway. If it wouldn't have been for that rain, we would have burned those rotten Spiders to smithereens.

The South game was a totally different story. We knew those Raiders were gone from the first of the week. It all got started Tuesday when we had concert T-shirt day. Everyone wore their favorite concert T-shirt to get into the spirit of things. Next, button day was a great way to show our WONDER spirit and wear all our favorite buttons. Farmer Day was the day to look like the farmers at South. And Finally, green and white day. Everyone wore green and white to show our team support and how much faith we had in them.

This to be for here or to go?
I wish I were ...

SOCCKER to me!
A face only a mother could love

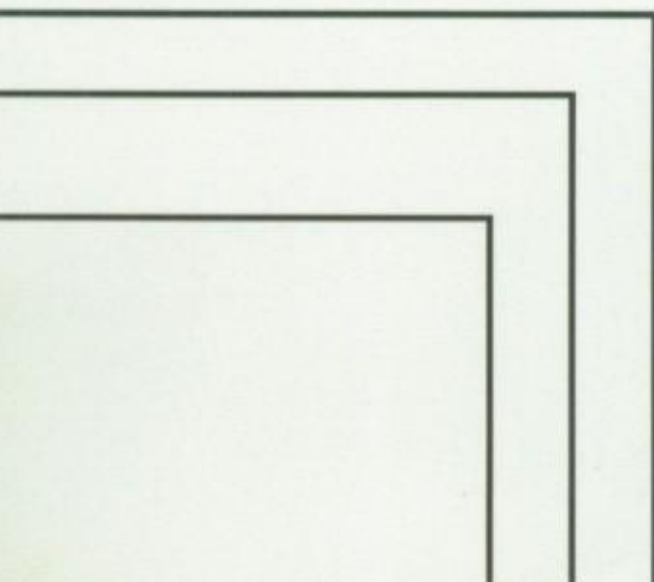

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

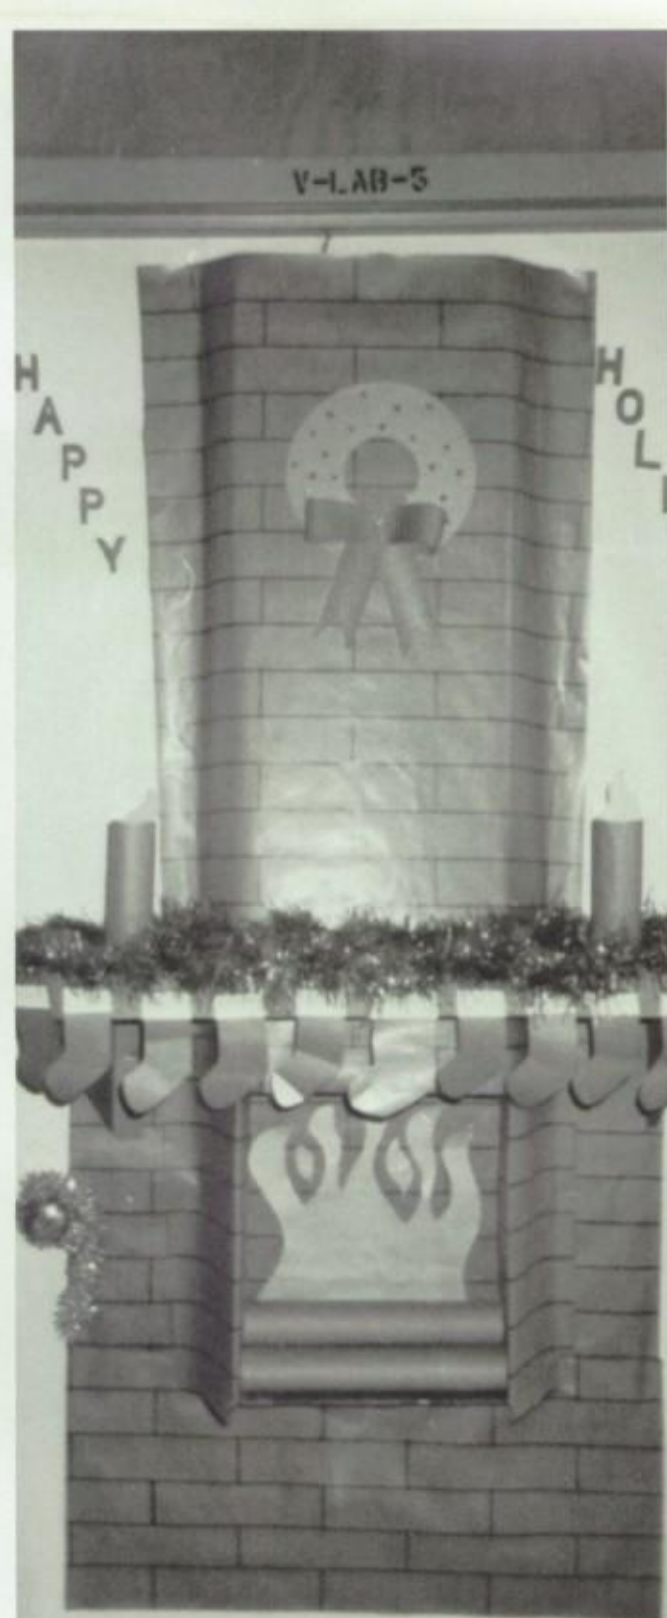

From the first bell on that first day to the long awaited summer vacation, anything and everything we have done together can be classified as student activities.

Football games, pep rallies, dances, assemblies, trips, the prom, and even lunch times were made great by just being together. Sometimes our greatest growth came from just the sharing of our thoughts, ideas, hopes and dreams. We even learned to laugh at ourselves in those most embarrassing moments.

With all the tests, new rules, and changes that went on this year, the activities we participated in together will always shine through.

Holiday Cheer

Boo! Gobble! Gobble! Ho-Ho-Ho! That's just about sums up the season! Seriously, it all started off with a great Halloween where there was a crazy pumpkin contest. Most of us were anticipating on going Trick-or-Treating or getting overly spooked.

Then Thanksgiving. What can you say except pass the potatoes, please!

Finally Christmas, and we all know what that means — Christmas Break! Before we were let out for the long awaited vacation, we were entertained by the band and chorus program. The TDR kids showed us the true meaning of Christmas.

We knew it was soon all coming to an end when we brought in the New Year. Time to start all over again. The Holidays were remembered as we returned back to school. Now and always.

AFS Exchange

There's a new face at A.L. Brown this year that we've never seen before. (No, it's not a freshman.) Her name is Maria Hyvonen and she is the AFS Exchange Student (and a SENIOR) for 1986-1987. She is from Finland. In the U.S., she lives with junior Rebecca Smith and her family. Maria has really enjoyed this year and has made many friends. She is involved in several new school activities from Drama and Student Council to the Anchor and Library Clubs (not to mention AFS). Though Maria is from Finland, she was born in the United States. She's learning a lot about the U.S. by taking American Literature and U.S. History. She gets homesick, though, and frequently writes letters to her family (with a few notes from her classmates included). Maria may be homesick but she admits that America can be a lot of fun.

Miss Brown High

This year, the students have selected LeAnne Barnes to represent their school as Miss Brown High.

LeAnne has taken an active part in school activities. She has been a member of the rifle squad since her sophomore year and this year she is the captain. She is also a member of AFS, symphonic band, session house, and the French Club. The teacher she looks up to the most is her history teacher, Bob Shinn. Along with other students in this area, she spent three weeks with him in Europe this summer.

"We toured Holland, Austria, Germany, and Switzerland. It amazed me he knew about these places. He knows so much outside of what he teaches. I think he's fantastic."

We, the students, are proud that we have a great student like LeAnne Barnes to be our Miss Brown High.

Homecoming '86

Homecoming '86 was a lovely sight as everything was perfect for the occasion. Everyone was excited as they awaited the announcement of Homecoming Queen.

As the Homecoming court was presented on the field, with the beautiful young ladies being escorted by the fathers of the senior football players that they sponsored, the spectators' anxiety and curiosity began to become evident. The crowd chattered excitedly about whom they thought would be chosen.

The big moment finally arrived! Everything was quiet as the announcement was made. 2nd attendant was Demetrius Knox, sponsoring Darren Knox and escorted by Mr. Fred Knox. 1st attendant was Patti Lloyd, sponsoring William Barlow and escorted by Mr. Leonard Barlow. The long anticipated announcement of the name of the new Homecoming Queen was finally made, and Kelly Moore, sponsoring Brad Sweatt and escorted by Mr. William Sweatt, was named Homecoming Queen for 1986.

Footloose and Fancy Free

Imagine being taken back to some sixty years ago. It was the time of the Roaring Twenties when the band played constantly, money flowed steadily, liquor came illegally, and flashy women came easily. These things were represented Homecoming night, the night where you'll be entertained by highstepping carefree people of the twenties. The seniors have worked hard to put this production on. It has brought many of us together as a senior class. Shannon Kennerly has been in charge and has done a great job. Many of the Seniors have committed a lot of their time and effort to put together this homecoming program. The plot behind this show was based on Al Capone, a twenties gangster who was a master of the black market. Flappers and waltzers entertained us before Capone notices his mistress was abducted by an opposing gang. The two gangs will fight it out before they realize they're getting nowhere. As the queen was crowned by Al Capone himself, the crowd come back to the realization of the 80's.

WASHINGTON

Washington? Who remembers it? Everyone's brain was frozen half of the time. In short, it was cold as the YUKON up there! Anyway, there are good times we do remember and may never forget.

I thought I would never stop hearing those two painful words. WAKE UP! It seems none of us ever got enough sleep. Some of us purposely stayed up all night either playing cards and smoking cigars or painting our fingernails at one in the morning.

As soon as everyone was awake enough we were back on the bus waiting and waiting and waiting . . . But what for? It seems that a few, twenty to be exact, students of ours decided to pack into an elevator that held no more than about ten people. That's right. They got stuck!

Once everyone was on the bus it was off to see the sights. OH BOY! There seemed to never be enough time, especially at the Smithsonian, for us to see everything we wanted. From Fonzie's jacket, the big Steam Engine Train or the cute guy standing over in the corner. DARN!

Well, that could be more exciting than the Capitol. To be truthful the Senate in session was kind of neat.

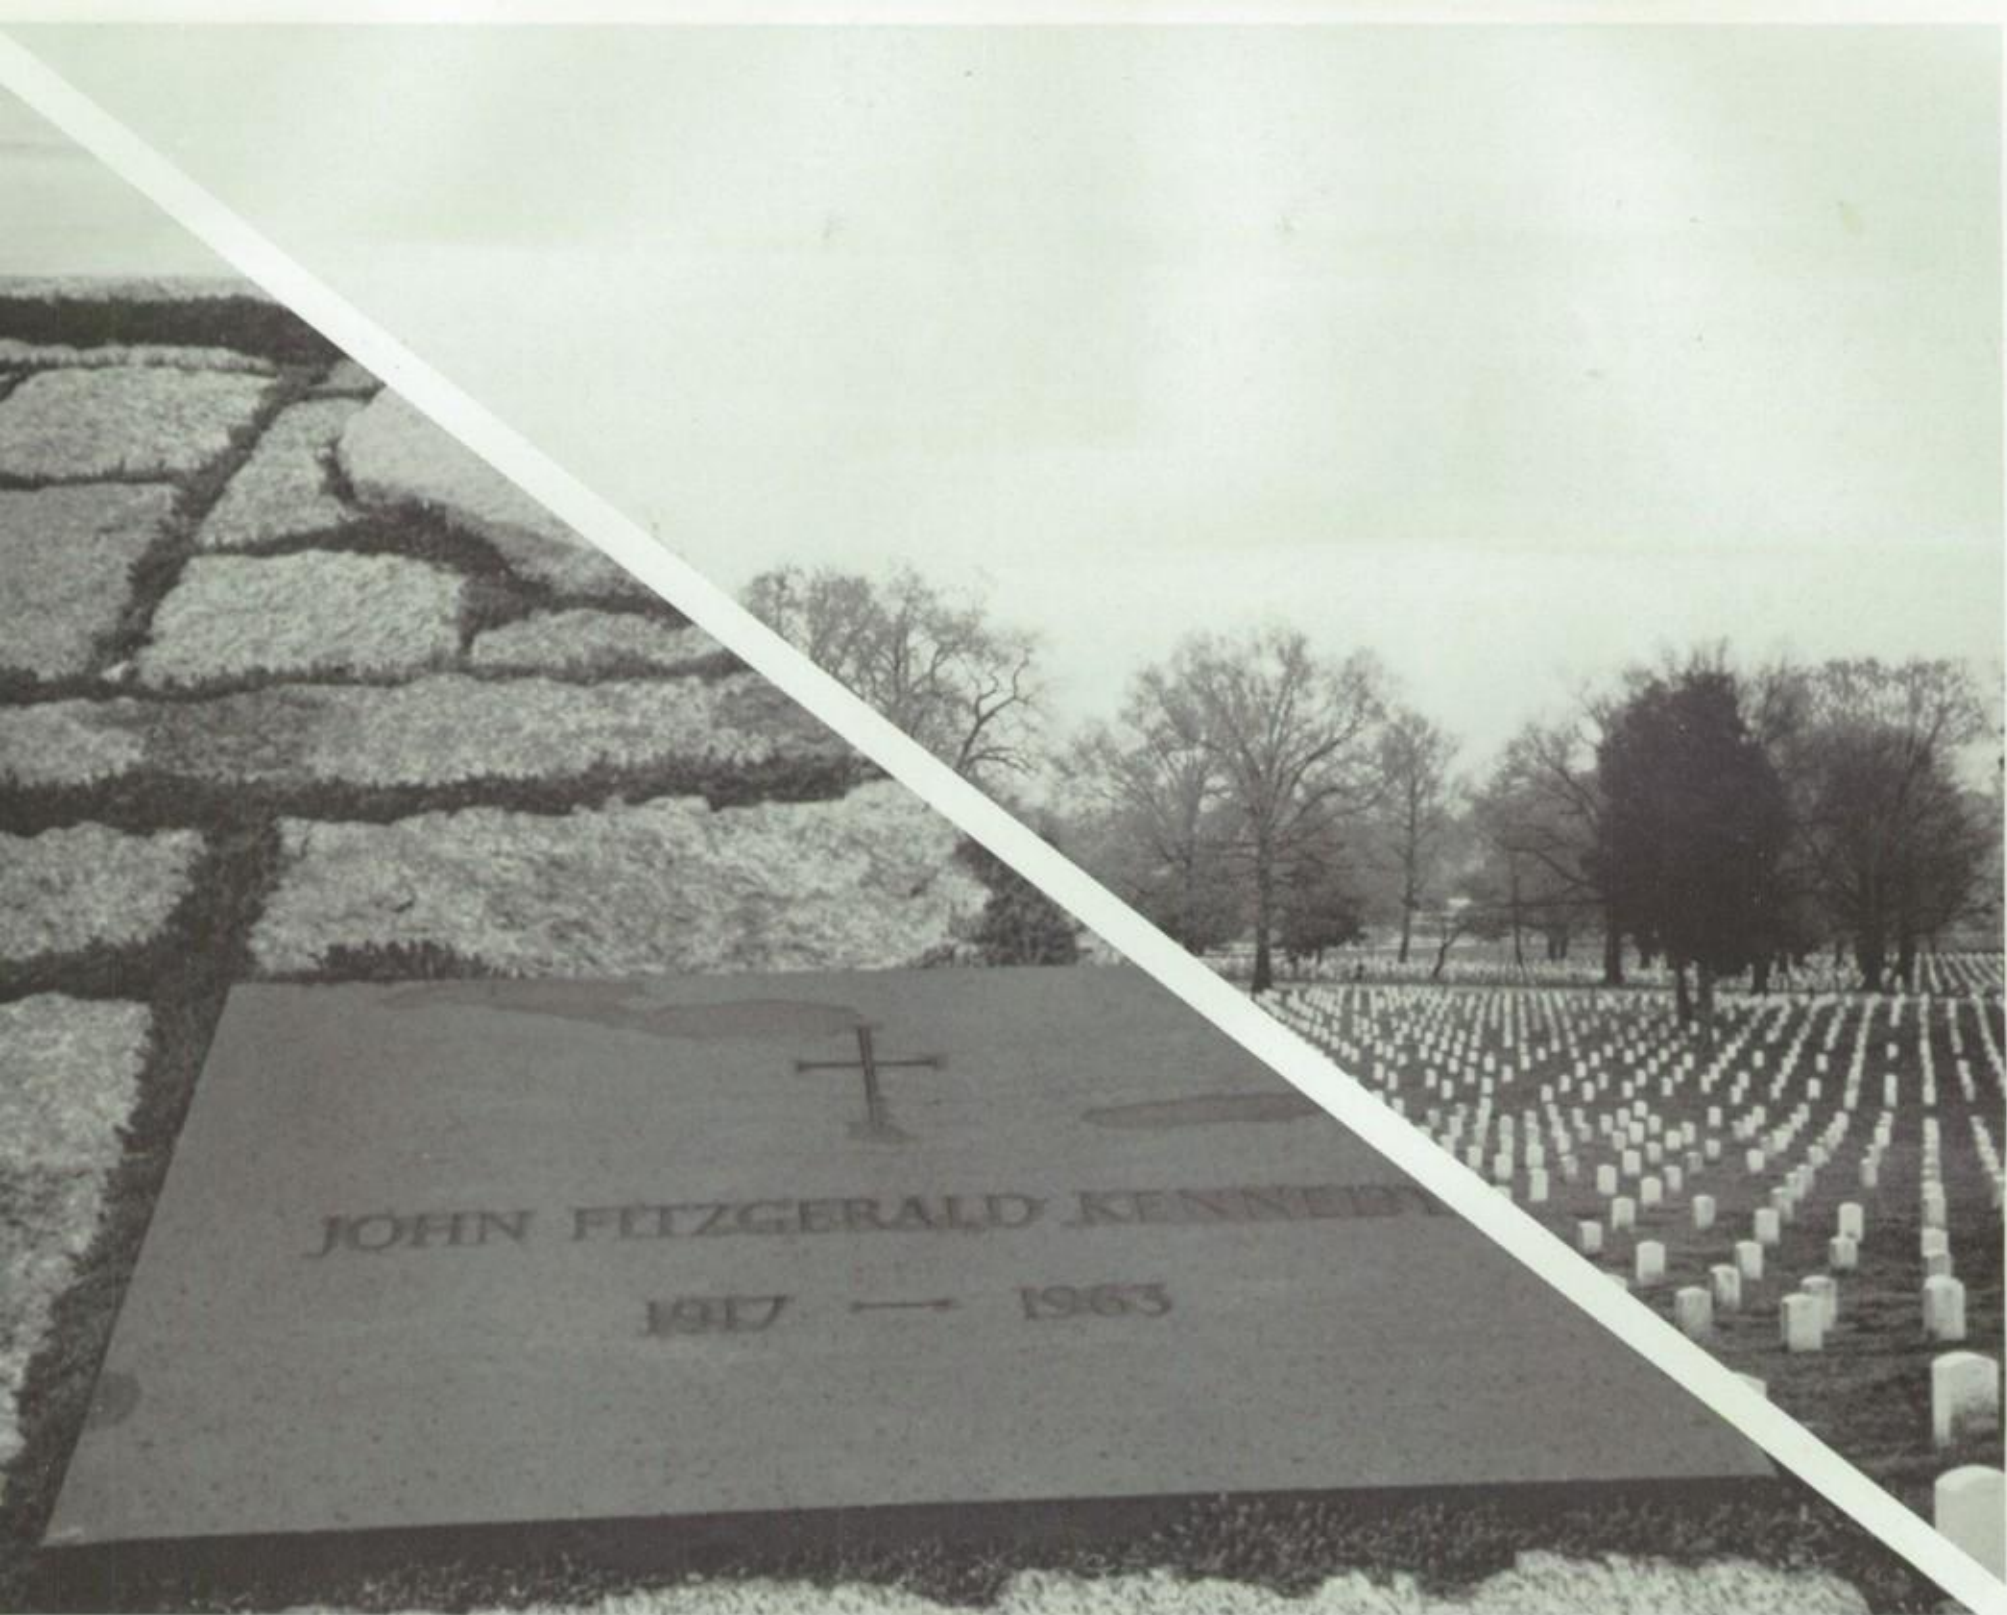

After a hard day of freezing our buns and walking our feet off it was time to get back to the hotel and get all spiffed up for a night at the theater.

The show, "Guys and Dolls" was great. As we watched the show many of us sipped on the mock drinks we fantasized were real.

On your mark, Get set ...
Chaperones
Take a seat.

How much longer?
Is that so?
Brr!

GO AHEAD. MAKE MY DAY.

And what days we had, running from here to there. It's amazing we saw everything we had planned. What plans we had.

But what we weren't planning on when we got to our hotel after the long exhausting ride was the big room mix-up. I couldn't believe it. Mrs. McDaniel couldn't either. She was ready to kill. I don't blame her. Five to a room? They've got to be crazy. We managed, though.

After everyone was situated, we went to see the Lincoln, Jefferson, and Vietnam Memorials.

Boy, were we ever cold and hungry. When we got back to the hotel, all you could see were bunches of hungry animals scavaging the area for a Mickey D's. You had to walk five miles to get it, though.

After we had eaten, we settled down enough to get a good night's sleep. We knew we had a big day in store for us the next day.

That next day was a very special day for a group of students. They're our Junior Class representatives, and they received a flag from Representative Hefner. We now have that flag here at Brown.

Meanwhile, a group of Wonders were on the loose. All of us checking out the sights or emptying our pockets (or filling them) with all the goods and souvenirs Washington had to offer. A lot of us got up quite a collection. Sunglasses and sweatshirts were hot items.

I know everytime we wear our shirts or we look at those crazy pictures we took, we'll think of the great times we had in Washington.

Prom '86

You can ask anybody in the school what the most important event is in the spring of their junior or senior year and every single one of them will say the Junior-Senior Prom. There is something totally magical about dressing up in long gowns and tuxedos and dancing the night away at the Concord hotel. Freshmen and sophomores feel left out when prom preparation starts. There's a mad dash for tickets and anxiety for the girls who know they won't get asked. Color coordination is the key and everyone competes to see how many people wear the same color. Red seemed popular last year. The prom is awfully exciting for everyone who attends and is a big part of many high school memories.

Graduation '87

Tension was in the air as hundreds of people gathered to watch their loved ones graduate from high school. Many tears were shed as person after person walked up the platform to receive their diploma. You could tell who the relatives and friends of the graduating seniors were because every single one was bursting with pride. Calls of encouragement and praise floated through the air and the applause at the end was deafening. The crowd gave them a standing ovation, and you could see the grins on their faces from the stands. They were now alumni of A. L. Brown High School and proud of it. After hurling their caps into the air, they exchanged hugs and tears with all of the friends they had made. Finally things started dying down and they started home — knowing the next stop was the beach.

THE Place to Be

The beach . . . do you remember graduation week? Anyone who has ever gone to the beach over graduation can remember pulling out of their driveway with a loaded car, a full tank, and their bikini underneath shorts and a T-shirt at 6:00 a.m. Somehow, Kannapolis bodies hit the sand the same morning by 9:30. Radios cranked, bodies Hawaiian Tropic'd, coolers full, teenagers soak up rays 'til 6:00.

There's no place like the beach over graduation when everybody is friendly to everybody else. When you walk the beach, you see someone you know about every five feet. Somebody is always inviting you to a party and gossiping with you about what went on the night before. Through the course of the week, people start coming out later and later on the beach. Could it be because they came in so late the night before or maybe not at all?

Everyone usually goes to Myrtle to the Magic Attic to hear the Creek at least once and get pictures in the photo booths. Slowly but surely your week or two comes to an end but keep in mind, there's always next year. Yes, the beach is the only place where a fuzzy navel takes on a new meaning and isn't just someone's gross body part.

WE'RE READY

I'm ready for more; The feelin' now that I'm beside you.
We'll open the door. Do anything that we decide to.

We're Ready!

You and I will find a reason to simplify a change of season.
And I feel like it's time we were off on our way.
We can go so much farther than we've come today. Holdin'

We're Ready!

We're ready not catchin' a wave to ride on.
Steady now headin' where we decide on. And I know that there's tryin' to do something right. Come on make it if we hold

It Lives On

It seems that it's been so long
Since we began twelve years ago.
And yet it seems it was yesterday,
Where did all the time go?

We've had the best of times,
Laughter, tears, lovers, and friends.
The days passed so quickly
And now it's coming to an end.

It's so hard to let go
And move on to something new,
But deep inside we all know
It's something we must do.

What will become of us?
That's our biggest fear.
We all must go our separate ways
And shed one final tear.

We're beginning once again
And high school days are gone.
But in our hearts and in our minds,
The class of '87 lives on.

A.L. BROWN FACULTY

The Faculty at A.L. Brown is a unique group of people with a wide variety of talents and interests that they are dedicated to sharing with their students. The staff and faculty at Brown are interested in the student as a whole, not just in their subject, and they demonstrate this by getting involved in school clubs, and as committee leaders. Our teachers are respected by many students and are considered good friends by many. The Class of '87 appreciated all the fine work the teachers at A.L. Brown have done for them over the last four years.

ACADEMICS

Putting
It All
Together

The cadets enthusiastically watch the game.

To be a qualified instructor for the JROTC, one must have served some time in the military so he can easily relate to the students what it is like in the military. Commander Forgays served in the military for 23 years and chief Wilson served for 20 years. Their military experience and expertise in the field are just two of the contributing factors that make the JROTC program a great success.

The cadets wave to us from the stands.

Sgt. Carter says, "Atttention!"

Isn't this an interesting bunch.

JROTC

A Step in the Right Direction

JROTC teaches the basic military skills through a study of naval principles as they apply toward the military world. The JROTC program at Brown has 121 cadets; 42 of them females and 79 males. The cadets wear their uniforms once a week on an assigned day while the instructors wear their uniforms every day.

Just as there are haircut regulations in the military, so there is in JROTC. The male cadets hair must not touch the collar in the back and must not touch the ears in the front. The female cadets must wear their hair up when they wear their uniforms. There can be no punk haircuts.

The JROTC has a Color Guard that is made up of four cadets that carry the national colors and represent the school at football games. The JROTC sometimes compete in competitions with other schools where they can show off all the practice they put into their drills.

Our fearless leaders.

What are you smiling at?

Preparing For The Future Guidelines To Success

To be successful in any career you must be a good leader, practice self-discipline, be organized, and get along with other employees. This is something that JROTC tries to relate to the cadets. The cadets, in turn, must practice these characteristics to be successful.

The Color Guard puts on a good show at half-time.

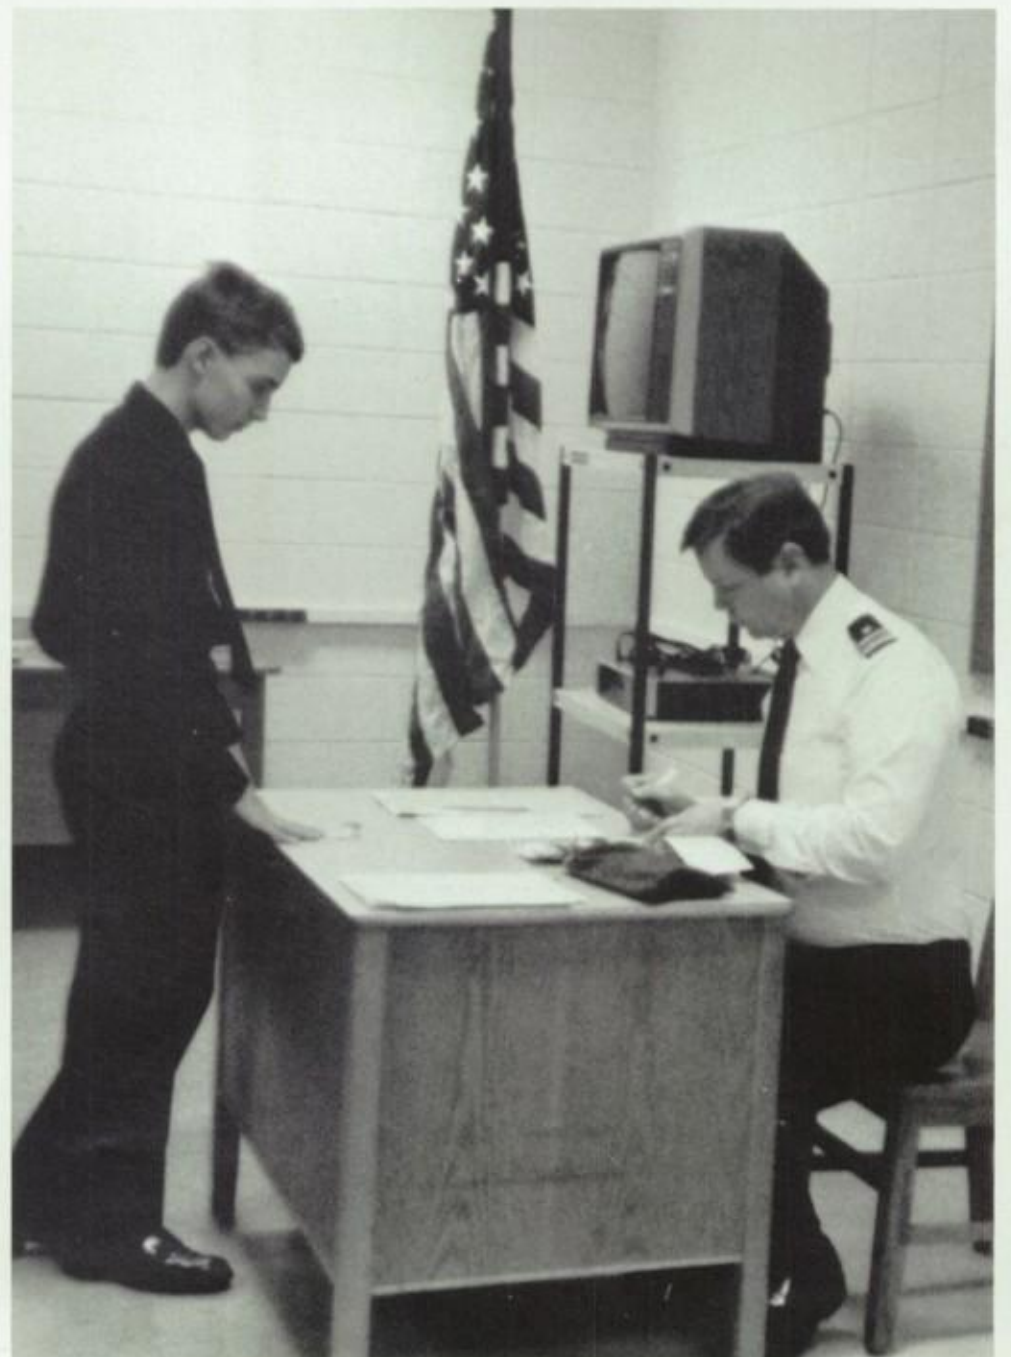

Dwayne dares us to take his picture.

The cadets learn a lot in JROTC.

You wanted to see me?

Computers Graphics

The computer class at Brown teaches the students about a variety of subjects dealing with computers. The instructor, Mr. Campbell, shows the students the different parts of a computer and teaches them how to use it. The students learn how to write programs, how to design shapes and produce different colors on the screen, and how to play music using the computer. The students also learn about the importance of the computer in today's society.

Drafting is a course in which students can gain experience in designing drawings. In advanced classes, they learn how to make symetric drawings and architectural drawings for a house.

Sherry really digs computer class.

What are you fellows up to?

Music Department . . . Name That Tune!

A. L. Brown's music department is among the best around. The "Big Green Machine" does a superb job of representing Brown at the football games. The band also has two concerts a year, one at Christmas time and then the spring concert.

The Choral Music Department at Brown also does a good job of representing the school. The Chorus is divided into four separate groups. They are the A Cappella, Mass Chorus Men's Choral, and the Women's Ensemble. The Chorus groups also have a Christmas concert and a Spring concert.

Michael Stocks blows his horn.

Mr. Driver directs the band.

Art Students On The Draw

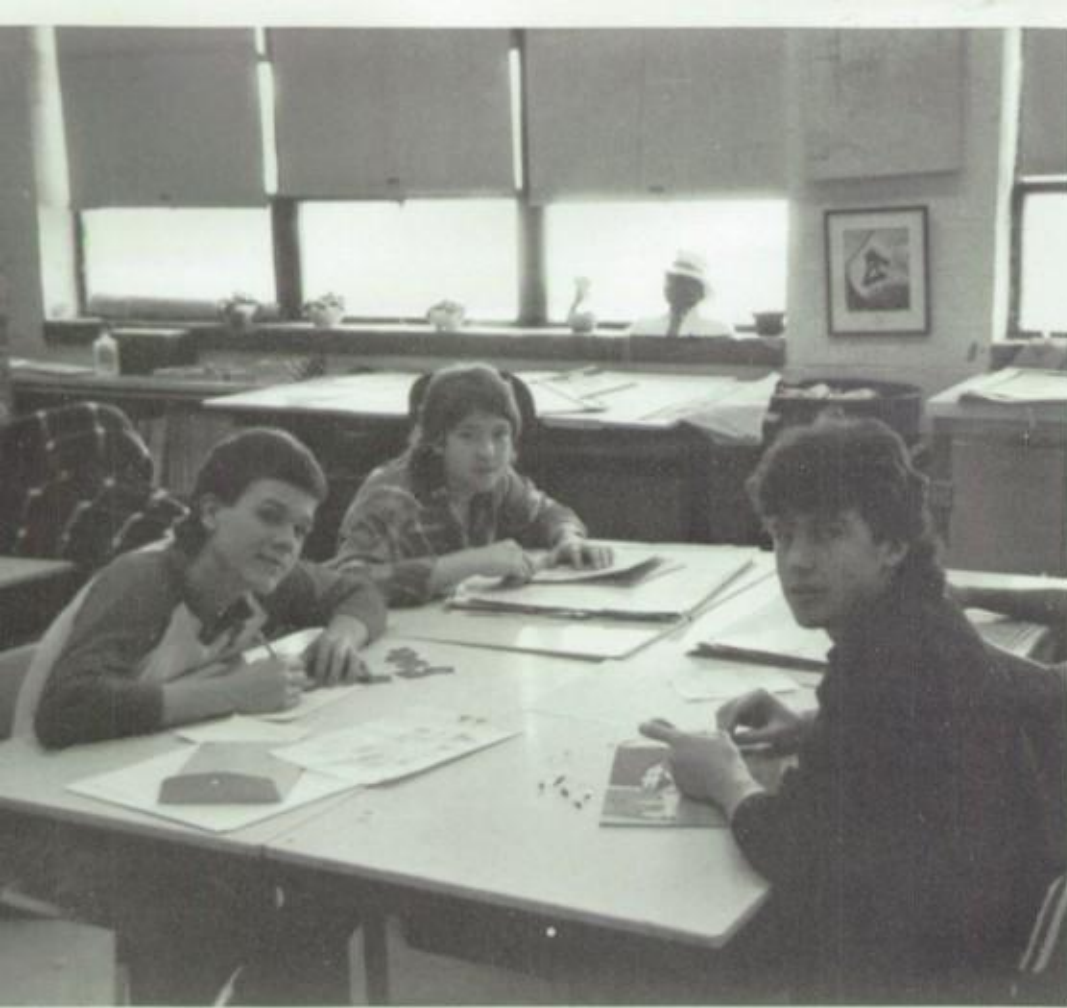

Much emphasis is placed on the art classes at Brown. The art students have always shown outstanding artistic ability. Mr. Barnhardt and Miss Hardin, the art teachers, teach the students the basic principles of art.

What's that you're making, Bobby?

Doesn't Jim have the cutest little smile?

Organizations make up a big part of A.L. Brown life. They serve many different purposes in the school and community. Students get a chance to give of their time and energy to the community and school projects. We sponsor a variety of clubs to serve the individual interests of our students. Those interested in politics can join the Student Council. Those who favor a vocational interest can join Drafting, DECA, AIASA, to mention a few. Our academic area is represented by the National Honor Society, which is by induction only. The foreign language students can join the French and the Spanish clubs. These organizations work with the American Field Service to encourage language study. For those who enjoy hobbies like working on cars, photography, and homemaking, we offer the Automotive Club, FOCL, and FHA. All of our clubs are student operated with faculty advisors. Their activities make up a big part of the school year.

The primary concern of the SADD Club is stressing the danger of drinking and driving. To support their efforts, the club participated in many activities such as fund raisers, contests, and public speaking. Also, the SADD poster committee made signs throughout the year for events such as Homecoming, the Prom, and Graduation. The posters were displayed in the hallways for all students to see and hopefully take action in avoiding the issue of driving drunk.

EDUCATION

The Education Club is part of a national organization designed to guide high school students who wish to pursue a career in education and in the numerous opportunities this career offers. It also encourages students to strive for a better education for themselves and to make improvements in the system for the future. It also promotes good relations between students, teachers, and parents. A.L. Brown's 65 member club is involved in such activities as honoring teachers with special recognition, social functions, state and regional meetings. The Education Club has also visited rest homes and childrens' wards along with performing programs for TMH classes.

SPORTS

Sports are an exciting part of life here at Brown! From August to May, the action is nonstop. The cold nights of October brought much excitement for Wonder football fans, as the Big Green Machine rolled over all but two of their opponents to finish second in conference action. Basketball quickly followed football. The basketball team had their work cut out for them this year. With the average height being 5'8", winning was very difficult considering that the average height for the other teams was about 6'5". While basketball was going on, so was another major sport at Brown . . . Wrestling. This year's team kept the winning tradition going by placing high in the conference. From wrestling we swung into baseball. This year's team was one of the finest that has come through Brown in a while. As you can see, Brown has one of the finest athletic programs in the state. A Wonder is successful on the field and in the classroom. The mix between sports and academics seems to work well!

Putting
It All
Together

The Wonder defense stops South Rowan as they try for a key first down.

"I think we had a pretty good season considering the fact that most people predicted us to go 5-5. We started season playing as a group of individuals but toward the end of the season we pulled together and played as a team. I think we accomplished alot by going 8-3.

Rodney Gilmore

WONDERS MAKE STATE PLAYOFFS ONCE AGAIN!

Finish with an 8-3 record

When the season started, the general opinion was not too optimistic. As each game passed, we realized that it was possible for us to have a winning season. No one thought we would make the play offs. I think our teams has proved its worth.

Paul Raitz

From the long, hot days of August to the cool evenings of November, the football team worked hard training for each game and played tough. All the time and work paid off.

The Wonders started off their season with their SPC rival, Northwest Cabarrus. A 33 yard field goal by William Barlow and a safety by Darren Knox and Myron Williamson were the only points scored for the night as the Wonders held off a much improved Trojan team. the defense was lead by Rodney Gilmore with 12 tackles, Myron Williamson with 11, and Pat Moore with 8. The final score ending 5-0.

A week later the Wonders met up with North Piedmont Conference Power, and Statesville Greyhounds. Offensively, they, controlled the ballgame the first half, but in the second half behind much better line blocking and the hard running of Sophomore tailback Wayne Martin, the Wonders came back and scored on a fourth and one early in the fourth and one early in the fourth quarter. William Barlow's extra points proved to be the difference in the hard fought game, but the defense held the Greyhounds to six points. The defense was led by Rodney Gilmore with 16 tackles, Pat Moore with 10 and Tim Clowney, with 9. The final score ending 7-6.

Next week the Wonders played their archrivals, the Concord Spiders. The Spiders led by their quarterback Andree White, who scored both of their touchdowns, emerged victorious 14-0. Leading the way for the wonders, tailback Wayne Martin, had 24 carries for 91 yards. Once again the tackling department was headed by Rodney Gilmore with 13 tackles.

The Wonders coming off a 14-0 loss against Concord headed back to Kannapolis Memorial, ready to play the R. J. Reynolds Demons. Offensively, the Wonders were led by Sophomore Wayne Martin with 12 carries for 122 yards and two touchdowns. Senior fullback William Barlow had 45 touch yards in 14 carries. Senior quarterback Jonathan Banks was 5 for 9 for 51 yards and Junior Tightend, Lynn Edwards had 3 receptions for 32 yards. The defense shut out the Demons holding them to 154 yards total offense. The defense was led by Rodney Gilmore with 16 tackles, Myron Williamson with 16, Pat Moore with 9, Patrick Argo with 9, and Lester Smith with 8.

Another Friday of frustration offensively pretty well sums up the Wonder's performance as they lost their first conference game against the West Forsyth Titans 14-0. Herman McKinnie led the way for the Titans, scoring both of their touchdowns. Offensively for the Wonders, William Barlow, who rushed for 75 yards in 15 carries, was the only offense shown by the Wonders. The defense was led by Pat Moore, with 16 tackles, Lester Smith, with 15, Rodney Gilmore, with 14, and Myron Williamson, with 8.

All the elements of a great game were present for our next biggest rival, South Rowan. In the last three years these two teams have battled to overtime three times. We were ready to do battle again. The Wonder offense really got going with this game, with 169 totals yards. The offense was led by Wayne Martin, who in 27 carries had 96 yards. Defensively, the Wonders held the Raiders to 8 points. The Defense was led by Rodney Gilmore, who had 15 tackles and one interception, Patrick Argo, with 7 tackles, Pat Moore, with 6 tackles, 1 fumble recovery, and one safety, and Lester Smith, with 5 tackles and one interception, with the final score ending 18-8.

After the bit win over the Raiders, the wonders now had to face the Black Knights from North Davidson. The wonder offense scored 33 points. The offense was led by Wayne Martin, who rushed for 216 yards and 4 touchdowns, and William Barlow, with 12 carries for 72 yards. Defensively the wonders held the Knights for 7 points and 93 total yards. The defense was led by Rodney Gilmore, with 11 tackles, Lester Smith, with 10 tackles, and Myron Williamson, with 8 tackles. The final score was 33-7. This week the Wonders travelled to Bowman Gray Stadium to face the Parkland Mustangs. Once again the Wonder offense turned in another terrific performance. Rodney Gilmore was the leading rusher, with 13 carries and 87 yards; William Barlow had 12 carries for 78 yards; and Lamont Johnson had 8 carries for 48 yards. Defensively the Wonders had another shut-out, holding the Mustangs to 86 yards. The defense was led by Darren Knox, with 8 tackles and 3 quarterback sacks; Rodney Gilmore had 7 and Pat Moore had 5 tackles and one quarterback sack. The final score was 40-0.

Next week the Wonders played the Davie County War Eagles. The Wonders turned in one of their best performances of the season. Offensively, the Wonders were led by Rodney Gilmore who had 8 carries for 89 yards and two touchdowns; Wayne Martin had 15 carries for 80 yards. Defensively the Wonders held the War Eagles to 7 points and 163 total yards. The tackling department was led by Rodney Gilmore with 15 tackles; Lester Smith, with 14 tackles; Pat Moore, with 12 tackles and 1 quarterback sack; and Tim Foster, with 9 tackles and two quarterback sacks. The final score ended 35-7.

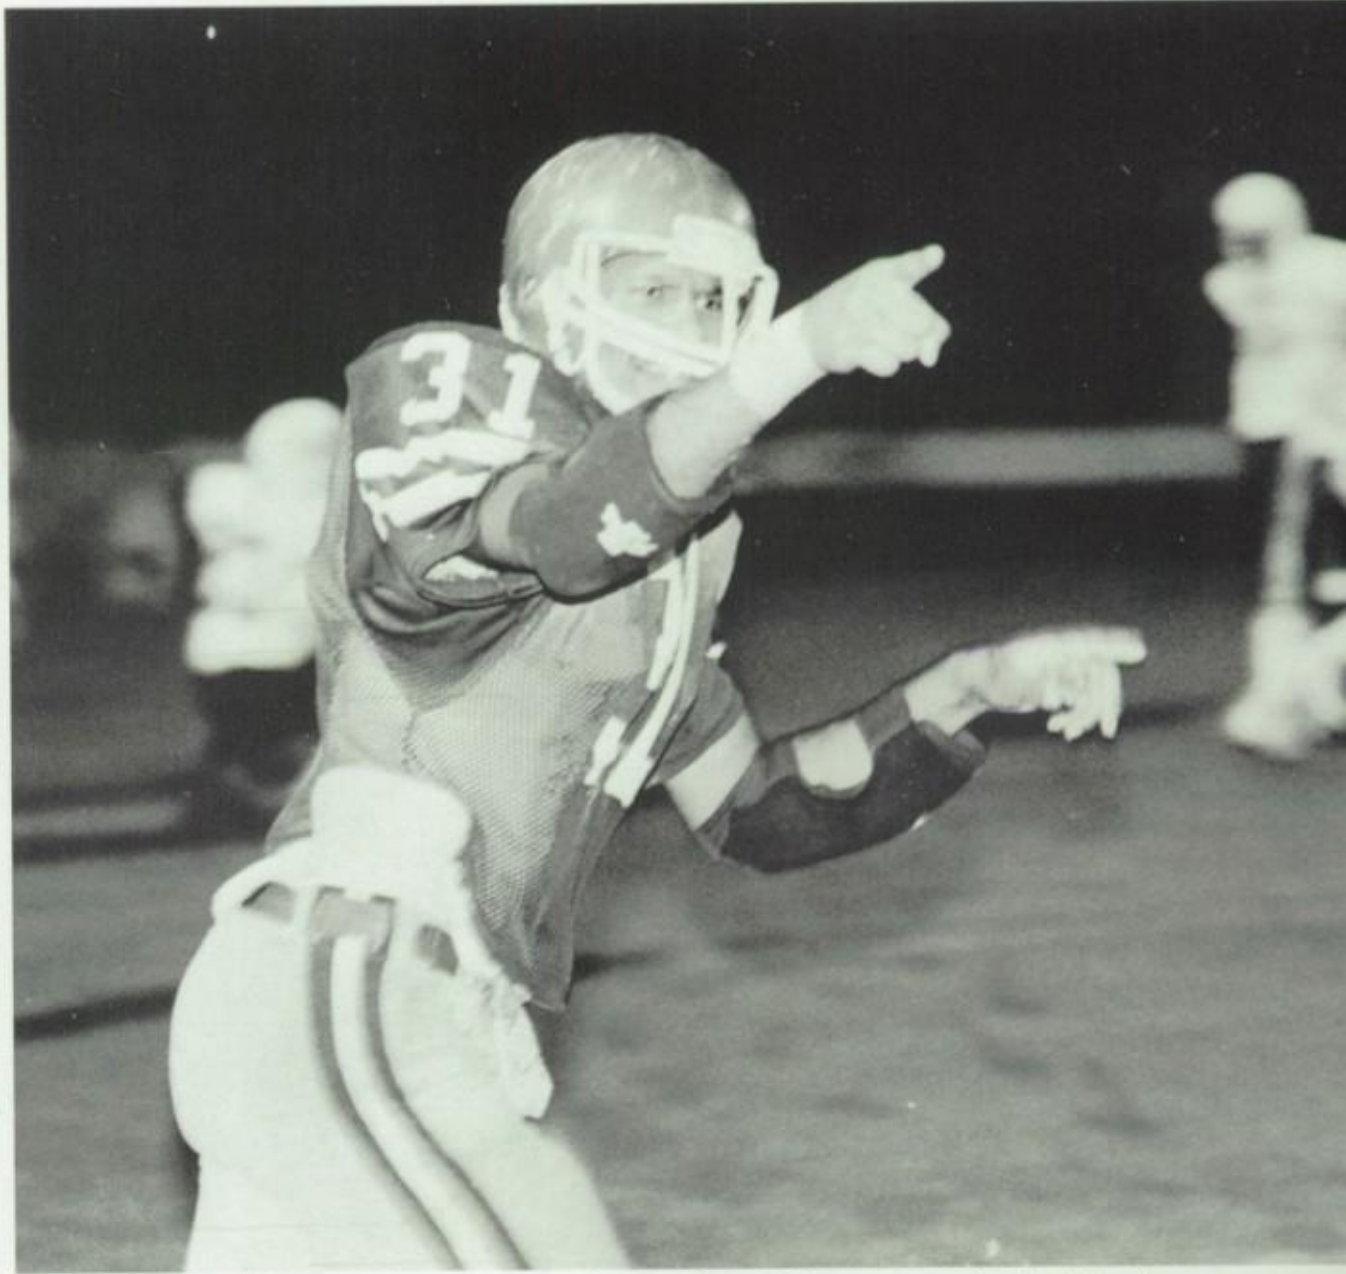

The next week we travelled to Greensboro where we faced the No. 1 team — in the world — the Page Pirates, in the State Play-offs First round. The Wonders played bravely, but the Pirate played one of their smoothest games of the year. The score ended 37-0, with the Wonders ending their season with 8-3 overall record. This year's junior varsity team had another great year. Under the leadership and direction of the Wonder coaching staff for the last 8 years the J.V.'s have either won the championship outright or they have tried for it. This adds promise to an already hopeful varsity team as they seek to renew thier reign as conference champs next year on the varsity level. This year like many others the J.V. squad continued to add depth to a solid program.

Wonder Volleyball . . . Bump, Set, Spike!

The Lady Wonders had another great season. With the coaching of Vickie Wilhelm, the team finished the season 12-0 in conference play, and they had an overall record of 21-2. They went on to win the Conference Tournament by coming through in a close match against West Forsyth.

The Lady Wonders suffered a slight disappointment when they lost to Dudley which knocked them out of the state play-offs in the first round. However, after having such a fantastic season, no one could complain too much. the exhausting practices really paid off!

Next year's team should be no letdown. Though there will not be as many seniors as there have been in the past, they will have a strong bunch of juniors to help pull the team through. We should be able to look forward to another outstanding season next year!

All four seniors will be missed next year. Some of these girls have played now for 5-6 years. They have put in a lot of hard work and have been very successful. Each year their team was in the state play-offs, and 2 out of 3 years they were conference champions. Their teams in 3 years compiled a record of 72-11.

Soccer

Brown's Wonders fight for control of the ball.

Soccer is the newest sport here at Brown High. It is a fast-paced, action-filled game. The team's relatively young age has made it the underdog in many competitions. The soccer team this year has improved greatly in the last two seasons.

Moving to a 3A conference was a big move for the new team. They had to face the more experienced schools like West Forsyth, R.J. Reynolds, and Mt. Tabo who'd had soccer programs for many years.

Over the last three seasons, the soccer team hasn't had much success but has shown great potential and improvement and also a lot of enthusiasm. Winning is great but having fun is more important.

True Love

With only three seniors: Susan Klutz, Sheri Brisson, and Heather Price, the bulk of the team was made up of underclassmen. Consisting of junior; Susan Crouse, Sophomores; Kelly Brakefield and Monica Barbee, and freshmen; Elizabeth Brown and Elizabeth Wiley. Their record improved from last year, but you can't judge a team by its record. This year, they had their ups and downs, going from back-to-back victories to seven consecutive defeats. After losing five seniors to graduation last year, the Lady Wonders showed how tough they are with victories over South Rowan, North Davidson, and Parkland. With each year, the tennis team keeps improving, and its just a matter of time before they become conference contenders with the record to prove it.

CROSS COUNTRY 86-87

The cross country team this year was very young and inexperienced. The team consisted of six ninth graders, three tenth graders, one junior and one senior.

There were two returnees from last year; Randy Mann, a Junior, and Karl Roseman, a sophomore. Over the course of the season three runners emerged as outstanding: Ronone Goode, Frankie Hunter, and Jon McQueen.

Coach Prim had a lot of good things to say about the team. "They're young and inexperienced, but there's excellent potential," Prim said. "The team improved a lot over the season. If they continue their training in the off season, they could compete on the state level in the future."

"Aw coach, do we have to run?"

Wrestlers Seize Many Important Titles Throughout Year

The Wonder wrestling team is becoming a very dominating force in the CPC. Round And Round . . .

After all the years on top its been kind of tough the last 2 years. This year's team has suffered from lack of height, depth, speed, and experience — just about everything that can go wrong has gone wrong. But one good thing is that the future looks promising. Help is on the way if we can just survive these lean years. The kids who have stuck it out are to be commended — they've taken a lot of abuse. Our main goal for the future is a little more dedication and off-season work. In order to be successful, our sports program must once again become a high-priority in the kid's lives. Right now it's not and that is the main difference in our current athletes and the great ones of the past.

At Its Best

The A.L. Brown softball team keeps getting better and better. They were co-champions of the Central Piedmont Conference last year but lost in the first round of play-offs. The Lady Wonders lost their seniors to graduation but there is plenty of talent still left on the team. A combination of skill, enthusiasm, and the guidance of Coach Vickie Wilhelm make this team a real winner.

Game, Set, Match

The 1986-87 Boys' Tennis Team is a mixture of youth and experience. Even though five of the top six seats graduated last year, six seniors return to lead the team. They include last year's only returning starter, Benji Hucks, fourth year members, Nevin Hermosisima, and Mark Gray. Third year members, Gerald Garmon and Jon Blackwelder and second year member, Dean Hale, are also returning. The other four members are all sophomores including Marty Todd, Brian Kiser, Donald Royal, and Thomas King. Several of the players played in summer leagues to try to catch up with players from other CPC schools that have played tennis since elementary school. With the addition of a few new players, Coach Harrington in his rookie year as coach, is optimistic of a winning season with even more improvement in the future.

Well Puddin,

DON'T FORGET
"TOOT" (NIE)

-It's down to the end where we start to say our farewells, but I refuse to say good-bye because I will for a fact see you again, and hopefully regain our relationship.

I don't exactly no where to start, I mean it's like I got a lot to say but don't know how to put it. Well for starters I've really missed you in the last couple of weeks. I've missed being with you & hearing you call me "TOOT". I missed being hug by you & loved also. I know you said you'd always love me, but the love we have now something missing, it's like a certain touch. I mean it's like the love we had before was special! I'm sorry things had to end this way, but at this very moment I regret I ever gave you that answer. It's like I was trying to be selfish, no correction I was being selfish I was only thinking of myself and not thinking of U.S. Puddin I'll do anything for things to go back the way they were, but I know that's impossible, because you once said if you're break up now things can never be the way they were before. Puddin can't you see I really love you, because if I didn't I wouldn't be saying all this. I know I said my love was leaving but all of sudden it's been revived. I guess all this had to happen for me. I don't understand I just don't ^{under-}stand. Another thing you need to be thankful for a friend like Corey. When I had had given up he never did, he would never except the fact. He really believes we belong together, and to do I right now. It's been pure boredom with out you. I know all the other boys like me, but none of them are like ^{you}. There's only one PUDDIN, and one puddin there always be.
